

Stone Cemetery near Ursa, Adams County, Illinois at one time there was an iron fence with a gate around the small cemetery. As of April 1995, the fence is gone and few stones remain. One large stone, that of Micajah, stands and has names of his children who are buried in plots in front of the large stone. Cemetery is located at corner of a private drive and the county road.