Death of a Bright and Eccentric Man

On the 19th ult., at his home near Salem, Missouri, Dr. J.E. Thompson died after a short illness of pneumonia. Four or five years ago he came to Placerville with his family and after a short residence, during which he practiced medicine, he suddenly returned to Mexico, whence he had come to this city. In a short time he removed from Mexico to Arkansas and thence to his former home in Missouri.

Aside from his profession he was a man of fine attainments in science and literature. There was in him the blood and brain of the Kentucky Breckenridges to whom he was related. Jesse Thompson who was killed at the Larkin Mine sometime ago, was his son and Mrs. E. Gardner is his sister-in-law
