Nannie Jane Gilpatrick passed away April 22, 1934

Mrs. Nannie Gilpatrick Collins, 74, wife of C. Willis Collins, died at her home two miles south of Livingston, Monday, as the result of a fall about six years ago. She had not been able to walk for a broken hip and had suffered too much, her condition growing worse for the past several months. She was an excellent woman, a faithful member of the Church of Christ since her girlhood, a kind, helpful neighbor, affectionate companion, and a kind mother. Her maiden was Nannie Gilpatrick and she was born and reared near Livingston and spent her life in this county. She was twice married, first to James Smith, about fifty years ago. Her first husband having died many years ago, she subsequently married C. Willis Collins on February 10, 1889, and he survives her. To this union were born two children, Walter Collins and Pearl, wife of Erby Ledbetter, of Coal Creek, who with a number of grandchildren, survive her. She is also survived by Mrs. Elizabeth G. Ogletree, widow of the late W. Campbell Ogletree.

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday at the residence at the Flatt Creek cemetery by Albert V. Watkins, of the Church of Christ. Burial was in the Flatt Creek cemetery.
