

After the Cival War,many of the Dudneys moved to Mississippi. They settled on the Mississippi River, about 40 miles south of Memphis. Yellow Fever struck, and killed several including Nancy Dudley and her son James. They are buried in Hill House Mississippi. The family moved back to Tennessee (Free State)outside of Gainsbourg. Many family members live there today.